Paris Boulevards Resound With Cheers As Pershing Leads Ranks of Legion On Parade

PARIS, Sept. 19—Under cloudy skies, which were reminiscent of the "sunny France" that the doughboys knew, the second A. E. F. paraded through flag-draped streets of Paris this afternoon, while dense throngs of Parisians on holiday, stood along the boulevards and cheered.

In the suburbs communists grumbled and soap-box orators called down deprecations on the heads of the Americans for executing Sacco and Vanzetti, but metropolitan Paris, with her police on guard to an extent hitherto without precedent presented a truly great tribute to the Americans.

Third Appearance

It was the third time on record that the historic streets, which once echoed to the tramp of Napoleon's men, home from great conquests, have heard the rhythmic tramp of American military forces. The first was on July 4, 1917, when a pitifully small contingent of Americans first heartened the downcast French with a promise of millions of American soldiers yet to follow. The second time was during the celebration of the armistice, when the battle-stained Yanks joined in the memorable Paris victory celebration.

Today's parade was the third, and it saw 15,000 legionnaires swinging through the streets in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of America's entry in the war.

Led By Pershing

In today's parade, as on the previous occasions, the Americans

Mansfield Yunckers Win First Game of Series, 7-5

Marion Outhits Visitors But Fails to Connect In Pinches; Lefty Good Shines

Yunckers Make Almost Every Hit Count for Run; Eagles Collect 13 Safeties Off Barry While Mansfield Gets Only Nine Off Good

ALTHOUGH they hammered Barry for 13 hits while their opponents were collecting only nine off Lefty Good, the Marion Eagles yesterday afternoon dropped the first of their three-game series to the Mansfield Yunckers, taking the short end of a 7 to 5 count.

The Yunckers began bunching hits early and made four bingles count for three runs in the first inning. They were never headed by Marion.

The Eagles outhit the visitors 13 to 9 but where the Yunckers connected it meant a run. Mansfield only had seven men left on the sacks while the Eagles left 14 men stranded on base. Two times the Eagles had the bases loaded with two away and failed to score. In the second inning they garnered five hits and were even helped along by an error, but still could only count two runs.

Daley, Miller and McMullen starred at bat for the Mansfield outfit. Daley connected for timely doubles, Miller collected a homer, while McMullen helped himself to a double and single, being robbed out of a possible triple by Glen Price's neat catch of his liner in the ninth.

Good, new Marion hurler, was easily the batting ace of the afternoon for Marion. He scored two runs himself and accounted for another with two singles and a home run clout. Joe Conroy kept up his batting average by getting two out of four trips to the plate. Pine and Buckland also connected for a couple of singles.

For Mansfield, Gimble, McMullen and Daley shone on the defense. Gimble twice went into foul territory to snag line drives. McMullen at second base handled eight chances perfectly, many of them difficult. Daley at the initial sack had 11 putouts.

Buck and Pine Shine

Buckland and Pine turned in clean cards for Marion. In the fourth inning Pine made a sensational one-handed catch of Young's hot grounder, throwing him out at first. Pine also had four other assists, none of them very easy to handle. Buckland made a wonderful stop of Gimble's grounder in the eighth, going far to the left to spear the ball. Bacon scooped the low throw out of the dirt for the putout. Price made a sensational catch of McMullen's drive in the ninth, going almost to the fence to snare it.

The Marion outfield had very little to do.

Mansfield Never Headed

After scoring three in the first inning, Mansfield rested for a couple of frames waiting until Marion caught up, and then proceeded to again walk away from the locals. The visitors scored two in the fourth stanza, one in the fifth and another in the seventh. The Eagles tagged along with one in the fifth and another in the ninth, after scoring three in the first few innings.

The indicator was handled efficiently by Norm Gallagher, while Pete Lattimore umpired the bases acceptably.

Next Sunday the [illegible] of Akron will play here.

MARION BINCO NINE LOSES TO CLARIDON

Slipping Local Outfit Falls by 10 to 5 Count at Claridon

The slipping Marion Bincos yesterday afternoon slid a step further toward the bottom of the Tri-County baseball league when they fell before the hard-hitting, fast-fielding Claridon outfit at Claridon. The final score was 10 to 5.

Fields and Rife pitched for the Marion nine while Herrell and Edginton did the mound work for the winners. Hits were plentiful, Marion collecting 11 while its opponents garnered 17 safeties.

Somerville will meet Claridon at Claridon in a double header next Sunday, it was announced today.

PIRATES MUST WIN NINE OF 14 GAMES TO CLINCH PENNANT

Giants Have Only 11 More Contests; Cards To Play 12

New York, Sept. 19.—By winning nine of their remaining 14 games, the Pittsburgh Pirates can mathematically clinch the National League pennant even if the New York Giants win all their remaining eleven and the Cardinals are victorious in each of the 12 games remaining on their schedule.

If the Pirates do no better than break even for the rest of the season a triple tie would be possible provided the Giants cop 10 out of 11 and the Cards can 11 out of 12. The big noise will start on Thursday when the Giants begin a four-game series with Pittsburgh.

The Giants, who broke even with the Reds yesterday while the Pirates were idle are 4½ games behind the leaders today. The Cardinals trail New York by only two points as a result of two home victories over the Phillies.

Cubs Again Lose

The Cubs, who lost to the Braves yesterday, 11 to 7, are out of the running entirely. The Braves were so overcome by their first victory in 16 starts that they cheered like college boys at the end of the game and carried Bob Smith, the winning pitcher, off the field on their shoulders.

Red Lucas of the Reds stopped the Giants cold, holding them to three hits and whitewashing them 7 to 0. Jackson's double enabled Barnes of the Giants to win a 4 to 2 decision over May in the nightcap.

Alexander and Littlejohn pitched the Cardinals to two victories over the Phillies, 7 to 3 and 8 to 5. Sunny Jim Bottomley hit for the circuit in each game while Cy Williams of the Phillies tied Hack Wilson for league home run honors with his 27th homer.

Ruth Gets Another

Babe Ruth walloped his 54th homer, placing him only two behind his record, as the Yankees drubbed the White Sox twice by scores of 2 to 1 and 5 to 1. The Yanks now have won 101 games and need only two more games to break the American League record of 105 victories, held by the 1912 Red Sox.

Cleveland nosed out Washington in the tenth, 6 to 4, on a double by Burns. Fonseca and Burns each made four hits.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY GETS UNDER WAY TODAY

Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 19—With as strong an international array as has ever been entered and with a particularly formidable field of home talent, play in the thirty-first women's golf championship of the United States got under way here this morning at the Cherry Valley Club.

Chief among the outstanding figures in the tournament was Mlle. Thion de la Chaume, holder of the British and French titles, although she is still only a slip of a girl in her teens.

CHAMPION HOLES UP UNTIL GONG SOUNDS; CAMP UNDER GUARD

Tunney Is Physically Fit; Workouts Will Be Light

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 19.—A secret guard was posted around Gene Tunney's training camp today as the champion prepared to spend the last three days before his fight with Jack Dempsey in seclusion. No persons were permitted to visit, and Billy Gibson, the champion's manager, let it be known that neither Tunney nor his staff cared to see anyone before Thursday night.

Tunney was up at 6 o'clock this morning and on the road alone, doing five miles before breakfast.

This afternoon he donned the gloves after three rounds of work with the light punching bag and sparred with Billy Vidabeck. No attempt was made for speed or slugging, the champion being under orders to exercise only enough to loosen muscles.

A similar private workout is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. After that the champion will pack his sixteen-ounce gloves away until he is called upon to train to defend his title or meet the man who can take it away from him.

Tunney showed in yesterday's work out that he is physically fit as any champion who ever stepped into the ring to defend his title. The betting at camp has shifted to three to two that he will win and his followers are freely predicting a knockout inside of six rounds.

Camp will be broken here on Wednesday, when Tunney and his staff will move into Chicago to await the first bell at Soldier Field Thursday night.

5c TURNS THE TRICK

It Buys a Real Cigar—Ripe, Rich, Mellow and Mild

We can't blame you for not believing it. You've been reading for years about cigars priced at five cents and "worth more." Perhaps you've tried a few and sworn off. Perhaps you say, "can't be done."

It can be done, men. It's being done right now. Volume production makes it possible. The cigar is selling by the million at five cents today. And we mean it's good. It's fragrant and satisfying from the first puff. It's made of ripe tobacco, in a model factory, by one of the best known makers in the world.

The name is Havana Ribbon. You can buy it at any cigar store in town. Forget your old-time prejudices. Shoot a nickel and light up. Put Havana Ribbon to every smoke test you know. Notice its flavor and aroma. Then ask yourself honestly if Havana Ribbon isn't a cigar after your own heart, price regardless.

JIM DUGAN

Sound Sleep—

its importance to your success

Now over a million men enjoy instant, all-night sleep that brings energetic, wide-awake days . . . by using this new Swiss food-drink

We offer you a 3-day test

Ambition. Mental alertness. The power of concentration. The energy to accomplish big things. All these qualities, which are in the make-up of every successful man, are largely the reward of sound, restoring sleep.

This is the consensus of opinion of famous specialists who have been studying the contributing factors of success.

And now modern science has found a natural way (a way without drugs) to instant, restful sleep that restores your tired mind and body.

Morning finds you a new man. Fresh, clear-eyed, buoyant. You have the energy to carry you right through the day and into the evening.

That is the experience of most Ovaltine users.

A 3-day test will show you. We urge you to make this test. It is well worth while.

Why Ovaltine brings restoring sleep

FIRST—It digests very quickly. Even in cases of impaired digestion.

SECOND—It supplies your system with certain health-building essentials which are often missing in your daily fare. One cup of Ovaltine has actually more food value than 12 cups of beef extract.

THIRD—Ovaltine has the unusual power of digesting 4 to 5 times its own weight of other foods you eat. Hence digestion goes on speedily and efficiently. As a result frayed nerves are soothed because digestive unrest, the main cause of sleeplessness, is overcome.

This is why, when taken at night, a cup of hot Ovaltine brings sound, restoring sleep in a natural way. And as you sleep the quick assimilation of nourishment is also restoring to the entire body. Thus you gather new strength and energy for the next day.

Hospitals and Doctors recommend it

Ovaltine is a delightful, pure food-drink. It contains no drugs. It is the special food properties of Ovaltine—and absolutely nothing else—that bring its wonderful results and popularity. In use in Switzerland for 30 years. Now in universal use in England and her colonies. During the great war it was served as a standard ration to invalid soldiers.

A few years ago Ovaltine was introduced into this country. Today hundreds of hospitals use it. More than 20,000 doctors recommend it, not only for sleeplessness, but because of its special dietetic properties, they also recommend it for nerve-strain, malnutrition, backward children, and the aged.

A 3-day test

Just make a 3-day test of Ovaltine. Note the difference, not only in your sleep, but in your next day's energy. You tackle your work with greater vigor. You "carry through" for the whole day. You aren't too tired to go out for the evening. There's a new zest to your work; to all your daily activities. It's truly a "pick-up" drink—for any time of the day.

All druggists sell Ovaltine in 4 sizes for home use. Or they can mix it for you at the soda fountain. But to let you try it we will send a 3-day introductory package for 10 cents, to cover cost of packing and mailing. Just send in coupon with 10 cents.

OVALTINE
Builds Body, Brain and Nerves

I hadn't had real restful sleep in over five years. Since taking Ovaltine I sleep better and have more ambition to work. It makes sleep come naturally.

Again the old schoolhouse on the corner, suddenly awakened from its summer "snooze" by a loud ding-dong, has become the brightest spot in the community. Thousands of boys and girls from smallest tots to grown up seniors enter at its open doors for another year of more extensive training.

Unfortunately however, certain schoolmates have dropped out in order to cut down expenses and help make a living. Such sacrifices could very often be avoided by permitting The City Loan to help. In fact the good qualities of The City Loan Plan are most evident to the parent who borrows money here to help educate his children. We invite you to know these qualities.

Market Reaction Given Stimulus By Reserve Shrinkage

eral Motors Loses 15 oints from Peak Established at Week-End

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, reactionary; industrial stocks, reactionary; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, easy; call money, 3½ per cent; [illegible] firm; copper, firm; oil, irregular; cotton, firm; rubber, [illegible] sugar, steady; pig iron, easy; foreign exchange, strong.

[illegible] York, Sept. 19—The [illegible] stock market [illegible] Saturday's closing [illegible] further [illegible] today in the [illegible] shrinkage in the reserves [illegible] New York City clearing house [illegible] a $30,000,000 deficit in [illegible] reserves of the banks. Funds [illegible] withdrawn quite heavily from the [illegible] market and the rate went up [illegible] per cent.

[illegible]fessionals working for lower [illegible] launched a violent attack on [illegible]al Motors, steel and various high [illegible] speculative leaders near the end [illegible] first hour and succeeded in pushing prices downward all the way from [illegible] points. General Motors at 20[illegible] a shrinkage of nearly 15 points [illegible] Saturday's peak of 227¼, which registered about 20 minutes before the close of the market. [illegible]

In spite of [illegible] the market appeared to be well able to absorb the large volume of [illegible] selling and liquidation was [illegible] from [illegible] period. [illegible] support for the market favorites [illegible] the downward [illegible] sharp [illegible] in General Motors, Baldwin, DuPont and others.

Reports Favorable

The industrial reports of the day were generally favorable and certainly there was nothing to indicate any [illegible] in the current rate of prosperity for the motor and steel industries, as well as for building construction and other of the so-called [illegible] of the present period. Another of the well known motor car manufacturers, President Alvan Macauley of the Packard Co., stated that August been the best month in the history of his company, while September shipments were running far above the record for this month.

Failure of the general list to rally encouraged further short selling in the fourth hour, in the progress of which the whole list declined to a lower level of prices than that recorded in the forenoon. Stocks of the steel and motor companies were offered freely and displayed the most reactionary tone. The mercantile stocks gave up a good portion of the new gains acquired in last week's spectacular uprush, Woolworth dropping backward about 6 points and Sears-Roebuck 5.

What will women not do for looks? A certain actress celebrated for her beauty recommends linseed poultices for the face, orange juice and bananas steeped in alcohol for the skin, strawberries crushed onto the face and neck for the complexion and if strawberries are not available, grapes or figs will do. Women who attempt this treatment doubtless will find it a rather sticky business.

When Li Hung Chang, the great Chinese statesman, visited America he brought with him his own food supply in the shape of clay tubes that looked like cement bricks. Actually each contained an egg many years old, which he esteemed a great delicacy.

A man with opinions, even extraordinary ones, will always interest the intelligent.

GIBSON GOES ON WARPATH

Says Underhanded Effort Is Made To Upset Gene as Fight Draws Near

National Woman's Party Looks Around To Get "Lowdown" on Political Situation

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Star Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—The National Woman's Party is beginning to size up the political landscape, with a view to 1928.

The [illegible] staffs at Republican and Democratic headquarters show signs of [illegible], but [illegible] Republicans and Democrats [illegible], politically speaking.

The National League of Women Voters is preparing for a campaign year, likewise. The league's nonpartisan but not especially feministic. Its mission is to prevail on women to vote, but it doesn't advise them how to vote. It sets no particular premium on women's policies or candidacies.

THE National Woman's Party is a PARTY—a WOMAN'S party. It's at the National Woman's Party headquarters that you find the militants. Their aim's political POWER—for women.

"It's a little early to be planning for next year," they told me at G. H. Q., opposite the Capitol Building, but in the same breath added that "Mabel Vernon's in the field now, making a survey of the country," looking for suitable candidates and estimating prospects.

Miss Vernon doesn't waste her time touring the United States for pure amusement.

THE Woman's National Party management frankly wants women in some good, big offices—not mere assistant secretaryships, nominations on the Democratic ticket in sections which haven't elected anybody but Republicans since John C. Fremont ran in '56, or chances to carry the Republican standard in the solidest parts of Dixie.

Cabinet portfolios are mentioned; high diplomatic posts; senatorial candidacies, under circumstances which offer a [illegible] of victory.

The [illegible] that the natural way for the country to accustom itself [illegible] president is [illegible] and then [illegible] place on a national ballot.

THE women [illegible] national party is fairly [illegible] don't appear [illegible] mathematical division of all the [illegible]—the presidency half [illegible], half the cabinet members, half of the senate and house of representatives, as close to one-half of the federal supreme court as it can be divided [illegible], half the governors—half of everything.

What the National Woman's party does want is [illegible] of these offices, but some, [illegible], and maybe 25 or 30 of its sex [illegible] in congress—enough to hold the balance of power most of the time, say.

In short, I take it that women want what they want in politics, as claims of right, whenever they do want it—not as a concession, or handout, not as an accident and not as a heritage from a political husband who died and left it to one of them.

That is, that's the impression I gathered at the National Woman's party headquarters.

THIS isn't all I heard there, either. I also heard some interesting [illegible] about some distinguished feminine personalities, and why some of them are all right and some of them won't "do" in politics.

That's a story I expect to tell later—oh, only a little later—if some of 'em don't find out about it in the meantime and get out an injunction.

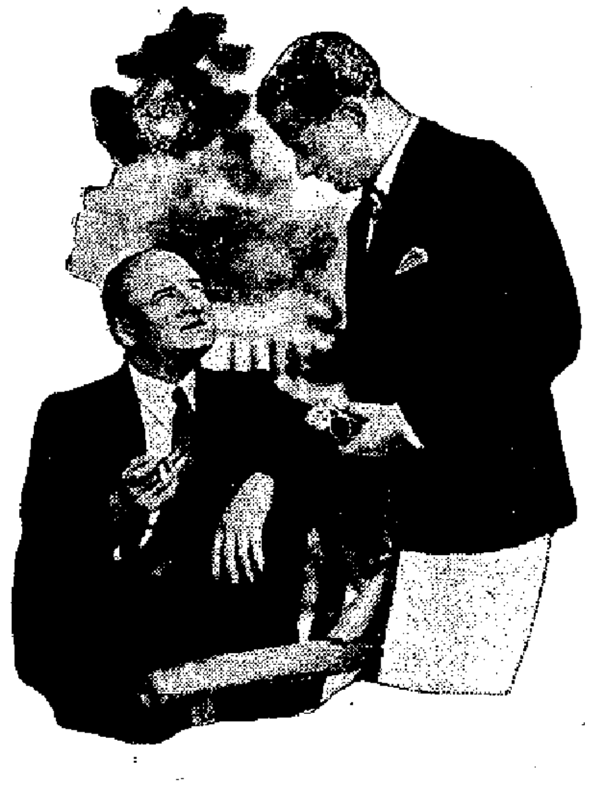
e Humphreys says: "Holbrook Blinn right—Luckies are certainly good"

Noted sports announcer, talking to his son, George Cohan Humphreys, at their home in Fairhaven, New Jersey, recommends Lucky Strikes.



Holbrook Blinn,
Noted Stage Star,
writes:

"Each performance brings with it its attendant nervousness and I relish the opportunity for a soothing smoke while playing. During the course of 'The Play's the Thing' I am called on to smoke at frequent intervals. It is always a Lucky Strike. I know from many years' use of this cigarette that my throat is constantly protected and that it will give me the greatest enjoyment." Holbrook Blinn

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

R. L. SWEARINGEN, 27, IS HELD IN ASSAULT

Arrested Second Time in Few Weeks in Connection with Fights

Roland L. Swearingen, 27, Schwinger apartments, and Mrs. Lessie Crizer, who figured prominently in municipal court affairs during the past several weeks, are again occupying the attention of the court. Swearingen, who was bound over to the grand jury last week under $500 bond by Municipal Judge William R. Martin on an assault charge, was arrested on N. Greenbay at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning after a battle with Frank Crizer, husband of Mrs. Crizer, at the Crizer home on Hillcrest late Saturday night.

Mrs. Crizer was arrested on E. Center a short time before while her husband was arrested at their home on Hillcrest shortly after the fight. According to the police the fight occurred about 10:30 o'clock.

The police say both Crizer and Swearingen, who are cousins, had been drinking and that after knocking Crizer down with an automobile crank, Swearingen bit him in the face several times, biting one lip nearly through. Crizer, in the mean time, had managed to get a knife out of his pocket and slashed Swearingen several times across the back, police say.

When police, called by neighbors, arrived, they found Crizer bleeding from wounds on his head and face, and Swearingen and Crizer's wife gone, they reported. The three Crizer children were placed in the Marion County Detention Home by the police Saturday night.

[illegible] Louis Marin, [illegible] minister of pensions, [illegible] French government.

Amid the [illegible] applause which greeted M. Marin [illegible] on the rostrum, [illegible] gallery. A group of [illegible] the distance from the palace, and M. Marin [illegible] dress of welcome.

Only Discordant Note

"The French [illegible]," M. Marin declared, "[illegible] of your participation with us in the great war. It knows in the [illegible] struggle for progress and especially the progress of moral conscience, how its American sisters are also imbued with the same care for ideals and the same worship of faith and justice, and the same desire for progress in all objects for which generations of French people for centuries have suffered, fought and won."

"Your pilgrimage increases the mutual affection which exists between our two countries," M. Marin continued. "We all welcome you most heartily and are happy to find again in the pilgrims' countenances who come back to us a most admirable image of our sister republic, the United States.

Formal Greeting

"I greet you in the name of combatants, of heroes, of civilian victims, of widows and orphans, of all those who have been stricken by the great tragedy, and as minister of remembrance and worship of the glorious dead of the war. This hour, when French hearts understand you and acclaim you, the government of the republic, in the name of the entire nation, wishes to express to you its whole hearted gratitude."

The minister of pensions then digressed on the subject of reparations and the post-war condition of France.

"Your reparations commission," he continued, "will go on with its important technical work for the constant bettering of conditions of war victims. Like our legislation, it gets its inspiration from the deep principle of consciousness that the people who bore the brunt of the war should be relieved by those who were left uninjured by it.

Peace Aims Outlined

"Your inflexible rules are not to meddle in politics, and you never do, but like our combatants, you have understood that virtues which were commendable in time of war also hold good during peace-time. You have desired that the men who won the war through a union of discipline, courage, abnegation and sense of duty should ensure peace through the same means. By intervening over questions of public order, whether internal or external, you mark out duties that assure your country's defenders to collaborate in peace as in war for the proper conduct of its destinies."

Whitehouse Speaker

M. Marin was followed on the speaker's stand by Sheldon Whitehouse, chancellor of the American embassy in Paris.

In opening his address, Whitehouse read a letter from United States Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, in which the latter expressed regret that his illness would prevent him from joining the legionnaires while they are in Paris.

"Your visit will do much to augment the friendship between two great sister republics," Ambassador Herrick's letter read.

"This convention is making history," Whitehouse declared in his address to the legionnaires, "because it is the first time that the organized representatives of a great army have held an official meeting in a foreign country."

Officialdom of the French government turned out brilliantly for the convention opening. In an addition to President Doumergue, who was honorary chairman, Paul Doumer, president of the senate, cabinet officers and many of France's notable military figures, sat upon the official platform. General John J. Pershing sat at President Doumergue's right hand, and Marshal Foch at his left. Whitehouse represented the American embassy.

Leads Applause

President Doumergue rose and led the assemblage in applause when a letter from President Coolidge had been read to the delegates. The gathering again broke out in tumultous applause when Martha Atwood, an American operatic singer rendered the national anthem of France and America. Miss Atwood, a striking blonde, presented a stunning picture in an attractive gown of blue silk against the colorful background of the official platform.

When Miss Atwood had concluded singing, President Doumergue left the palace accompanied by his escort while the [illegible] band of Sioux City, Ia., played "Meuse and Sambre." General Pershing and Marshal Foch then sat alone in the front row of the speakers' stand engaged in animated conversation.

Julien [illegible], commander of the French department of the Legion, then spoke to the delegates.

Radicals Quelled

At this point, a score of radicals gathered outside the Trocadero and made a feeble effort at staging [illegible] demonstration by crying "Down with the Americans!" Gendarmes quickly routed the disturbers.

The opening session concluded with a memorial service for the war dead. Miss Atwood sang "They Are Not Dead," after which a full minute of silence was observed. Taps were then sounded.

Immediately after the close of the session, the legionnaires made beelines for the boulevard cafes, and officials began preparation for the great Legion parade which will be held later in the day.

SAVAGE RESPONDS TO WORDS OF GREETING

Paris, Sept. 19—Howard P. Savage, national commander of the American Legion, addressing the legion national convention at the opening session here today, said in response to the addresses of welcome:

"We are present here today in response to repeated invitations extending over a period of three years. We were asked to hold our ninth annual convention in Paris at this time, 1927, the year that marks the tenth anniversary of America's entry into the World War, and General Pershing's arrival with the first A. E. F. upon the friendly shores of your republic.

20,000 Strong

"We are glad to accept your invitations. We are here. We have come in the same spirit of cordiality and comradeship as that which inspired your invitations. The Second A.E.F. is with you, 20,000 strong, the greatest peace-time pilgrimage of good will in the history of the world. We know that our visit will further strengthen the historic bonds of friendship which have so long endured between our two great sister republics.

"Ten years ago our great leader, General Pershing, stood before the tomb of an immortal Frenchman and soldier, and said: 'Lafayette, we are here.'

"Today I say to your excellency, 'We have come again—the Second A. E. F. is here.'

Friendship Unchanged

"Although ten years older, we are the same men you took to your hearts during the World War—Americans who fought side by side with their comrades of Europe. Do not think of us as different, for we are the same friends now as then. We hope that when our visit is ended, and we have returned to our homes once more, that this renewal of old and binding ties will cause you to regret our leave-taking—that you will regard our departure as the 'au revoir' of [illegible] affectionate friends—that you will have cause to feel happy that we came back to visit you."

CHARGED WITH REMOVING MORTGAGED PROPERTY

Okey Berry, 26, was brought back to this city from Chillicothe Saturday evening to answer to a charge of removing mortgaged property from the county. The affidavit against Berry was filed by Fred Haberman of the [illegible] Chevrolet Co., who charged that Berry, who had purchased a Ford sedan, and had given a mortgage for [illegible], had removed the car from the county without permission. He is being held at police headquarters pending a hearing before Judge Martin in municipal court.

ORDER ON CUSTODY OF CHILD NOT FOUND

Father Retains Child Taken from Grandparents' Home; Await Judge's Return

No further action has been taken by Jesse Almendinger, of Green Camp, in an attempt to regain custody of Alonie Kepler, 18 year old daughter of Francis Kepler, Windsor-st, who was taken from her home by Kepler late Friday.

Although the grandparents of the child assert that the child was placed in their custody several weeks ago by an order of probate court, no record can be found in the local county office of the order.

James H. Eymon, attorney for the Marion County Humane Society, has stated that a permit to transfer the girl to the home of her grandparents had been issued in probate court by Judge Louis D. McNeal, who is now attending the American Legion convention at Paris. The court records reveal that an application for the transfer of the child was filed in the court on July 5.

That an affidavit would be filed against the father of the child in probate court as soon as Judge McNeal returns from his trip, was indicated today by Attorney Eymon. Efforts will be made at that time to regain possession of the child.

The condition of Mrs. Jesse Almendinger, grandmother of the girl, who suffered from shock to her nervous system when she fainted during the fistic encounter between her husband and Kepler, is improved medical authorities said today.

FRESH FRUIT COBBLER

One tablespoon butter, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one egg, one cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup flour, fresh fruit. Place inverted cup in pan, put sweetened fruit (apples, peaches, plums, for instance), around it and pour in the batter. Bake one-half hour in moderate oven and turn out on plate. The juice from the fruit gathers under the cup, thus preventing a soggy dessert.

Thirty or forty years ago the making of an ordinary afternoon dress required 15 yards of wide silk, five yards of lining, 5 yards of bindings, four yards of silk for dust ruffles, besides numerous accessories in the way of featherbone, dozens of buttons, cards of hooks and eyes, belting and a dozen or so spools of thread. Nowadays, thanks to the changes in fashion, three yards of silk, two spools of thread, and an hour's work will turn out the stylish little afternoon [illegible].

were led by General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of America's war time armies.

The procession assembled in the shadow of Washington's monument at Place D'Iena, and was headed by the Garde Republicaine de la France, mounted, with its best band. The Garde was followed by a battalion of French infantry and the crossed flags of the allied nations.

General Pershing and National Commander Savage followed these, escorted by a color guard composed of French and American soldiers.

Delegations representing the United States auxiliaries followed.

March Eight Abreast

From Washington's monument the Americans marched eight abreast down the middle of the street to Place Etats Unis and the Alan Seeger monument, where "eyes right" was executed and the colors dipped.

The high point of the parade was at the Arc De Triomphe, where, for the second time since 1871 the chains across the arch were taken down to allow the marching military to pass beneath.

The only previous time these chains were taken down was during the Armistice victory celebration. The removal of these chains constituted one of the highest tributes the French government could have rendered the Americans.

"You Need a Diuretic!"

You Can't Feel Well When Kidneys Act Sluggishly.

THE part played by the kidneys and their importance to bodily health should be clearly understood.

The kidneys are the blood filters. If their action becomes sluggish, they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. Such impurities are apt to make one dull, tired and achy with often a nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common warning of imperfect kidney action is scanty or burning excretions.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, aid the kidneys in their eliminative work. 50,000 users have publicly recommended Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Judge John Caverly, who sentenced Leopold and Loeb to prison for life, told the Parisian press that the strain of incarceration upon their abnormal minds would cause them to die or go insane within six or seven years. Can this be taken as a preliminary to a campaign to loose these two most dangerous criminals upon a long-suffering people?

We are importing so much snakebite remedy from India and Brazil that it begins to look as though pieeickers and others have little faith in the curative properties of the present-day substitute for the old-time popular remedy.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat defines a progressive as "a man who wants to improve the present state of affairs without getting hysterical about it." That definition just about bars all the gentlemen of self-admitted eminence at present holding themselves out to the public as "progressives."

The Fairer Way.

Speaking before a gathering of the members of the Women's Christian Temperance union in Toledo, one day last week, Roy C. Dague, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, urged them to withdraw their memberships from the Toledo Automobile club unless it halted its opposition to the Marshall bill, which is to be submitted to a referendum vote at the coming November election.

The Marshall bill, it may be said for the information of any who may not be posted in the matter, was passed at the last session of the Ohio general assembly after the supreme court of the United States had held that Ohio justices were illegally collecting fees derived from fines imposed upon liquor violators and others, because defendants could not have fair and impartial trials before tribunals whose payment was dependent, even in part, upon the outcome of the trials.

Proponents of the bill claimed that the measure would meet the objections of the supreme court. Under its terms, the payment of justices was limited to a fixed sum, and all fees in excess of that fixed amount were to revert to the state and counties. Justices receiving less than the fixed amount in fees, however, are left without any other source of revenue.

Our Trade with the World.

[illegible] of 1926, [illegible] year. [illegible] of the world, while [illegible] for the year as [illegible] In 1926 [illegible]

With the exception of the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Norway, our sales in every section of Europe show gains over those of a year ago. Our exports, comparing the two seven-month periods, increased from $1,157,528,000 to $1,231,[illegible],000 in Europe, from $670,575,000 to $751,629,000 in North America, from $[illegible] to $[illegible] in South America, from $[illegible] to $[illegible] in Asia, from $[illegible] to $[illegible] in Oceania and from $[illegible] to $61,116,000 in Africa.

Striking features of the department's figures are sharp declines in our exports to France and Italy and a falling off in sales to the United Kingdom, while our imports from the former two were noticeably increased. In our trade with the United Kingdom, however, the decline of $20,000,000 in our exports was more than offset by a decline of $26,000,000 in our imports. A still more striking feature was our trade with Germany for the period named. While our exports to Germany increased over $53,000,000, our imports for the period show a falling off of $5,000,000. In a word, we bought more in France and Italy, where the decline in our exports was marked, and bought less in Germany, where the increase in our exports was greatest.

Exports to France decreased from $114,000,000 to $112,000,000; to Italy, from $88,000,000 to $65,000,000; to the United Kingdom, from $492,000,000 to $472,000,000, and to Norway, from $17,616,000 to $15,189,000.

Comparing 1926 with 1927, exports to Belgium increased from $65,000,000 to $63,000,000; to Czecho Slovakia, $1,761,000 to $3,819,000; Denmark, $29,000,000 to $33,000,000; Greece, $3,939,000 to $10,000,000; Netherlands, $66,000,000 to $75,000,000; Spain, $36,000,000 to $38,000,000; Sweden, $20,000,000 to $21,000,000. Sales to Russia increased from $23,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Of our total exports to North America this year Canada took $468,000,000 worth, as compared with $419,000,000 in the first seven-month period of 1926. Exports to Mexico dropped from $81,000,000 to $65,000,000; to Cuba, from $97,000,000 to $91,000,000.

Our exports to Argentina jumped from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000; to Colombia from $28,000,000 to $29,000,000 and to Brazil from $51,000,000 to $64,000,000.

Exports to Japan increased from $135,000,000 to $142,000,000, and to Australia from $89,000,000 to nearly $100,000,000. Sales to China dropped from $61,000,000 to $52,000,000.

On the buying side, imports from France increased from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000, from Italy from $51,000,000 to $60,000,000, while our imports from Germany declined from $112,000,000 to $107,000,000, and from the United Kingdom from $225,000,000 to $199,000,000.

Imports from British India dropped from $101,000,000 in 1926 to $79,000,000 this year, from British Malaya from $265,000,000 to $174,000,000, from Dutch East Indies, $50,000,000 to $52,000,000. Our imports from Soviet Russia were valued at more than $10,000,000 in the first seven months of 1926 and declined to $5,622,000 in the first seven months of the current year.

Our imports from Mexico were valued at $107,000,000 last year and at $89,000,000 this year. Our imports from Canada dropped from $261,000,000 to $262,000,000, and from Cuba they increased from $141,000,000 to $163,000,000.

The showing made for the seven-month period is decidedly satisfactory. We increased our exports from $2,575,170,195 to $2,712,189,766 and decreased our imports from $2,640,695,676 to $2,442,561,137. In a word, we increased our sales abroad $137,019,573 and decreased our purchases by $198,134,539, making a difference in our favor of $335,254,112 and turning a balance of $65,[illegible],452 against us to a balance of $270,[illegible],629 in our favor.

All in all, we see nothing in the showing to indicate that the predicted isolation of the United States is on the speedy way to realization.

LAXITY IN VOTING

"Twenty-seven million people stayed away from the polls in the presidential election of 1920. [illegible] people stayed away from the polls in the presidential election of 1924. There were 57,000,000 [illegible] voters in 1924 and only 29,[illegible] of them cast their ballots. The percentage of actual voters to eligible voters in the latest election was 51.2 [illegible] 49.1 in the previous [illegible] election. This was not quite as bad a showing, but [illegible] against the [illegible] consciousness of the people of this country."

MY BUDDY!

Roads to Medicinal Springs.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the common failings of mortal man is his neglect to drink enough water. It is doubtful if habits and tendencies are more strongly shown than by the water-drinking habit. Everybody should drink at least five pints of water per day. While some persons take more than this, the average individual consumes much less.

If water cost ten cents a glass it would be in greater demand. Its very cheapness and abundance appear to make it less popular than it should be.

When I get thirsty, invariably my mind turns to a spring in the outskirts of my native village. It seems to me no other water tastes half as good. To the end of life "Palmer's Spring" will haunt my dreams.

There is something romantic and appealing about a spring of crystal water. Let the public learn that a given spring contains valuable minerals or other health giving qualities and it becomes the Mecca of the neighborhood.

It was ever thus. Away back at the dawn of civilization society recognized the importance of mineral waters. The earliest healing establishments dedicated to Aesculapius, the "Father of Medicine," were found near famous springs.

According to some authorities the only medicines used in ancient Rome were mineral waters. For a period of five centuries or more sole dependence in every illness was placed on their virtues. The traveler to Rome and to every part of Europe reached by the Romans finds the remains of the Roman baths to be the chief objects of interest.

There is an abundant foundation for this ancient faith in such waters. There can be no doubt that the combination of mineral salts found in some spring waters creates a drink which has more than the virtues of plain water. When chemical salts are thus dissolved they appear capable of producing different physical effects than the same salts have in their free state.

In my opinion the chemical analysis of a mineral water does not give a true estimate of its value to the human system. The solution may contain soda, lime, potash or other elements. To drink the water containing one or more of these ingredients does not give you the effect of taking upon the tongue so much soda or lime or potash. The water appreciates these mineral salts and passes them through the mysterious laboratory of nature. What results is something is something more potent and health-giving than the dry salts.

You are not interested in the various theories put forth to explain this remarkable fact. They are too complicated for everyday reading. The scientist talks about "ionization" and "dissociation of the molecule." But in plain language these terms mean simply that nature, the great chemist and master workman, has caused the forces of the earth and the properties of the minerals to be transformed so that the human body can absorb them.

Space does not permit extended consideration of the special virtues of mineral springs found in North America. In various parts of New York and Pennsylvania and Indiana and West Virginia, indeed, in almost every state in the union and the provinces of Canada, are found mineral springs from which bubble waters of great value to mankind. When properly selected for their specific qualities, these waters can be counted as friends of the human family.

Among the mineral waters it is probable that the [illegible] the salty waters, are the most popular. They possess laxative and [illegible] properties which make them of value when such effects are required.

In [illegible] instances such waters are to be preferred to [illegible] powders or the usual cathartic. [illegible] that is the reason they are [illegible]. But the fact that they are made so attractive [illegible] and drastic [illegible]

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

George Berry, president of the International Pressmen's union, in a letter to the writer, says about employers and employes: "If we are to pursue the course of genuine cooperation then it is time for both employer and employe organizations of America to take the candle out from under the half bushel measure and remember that the interest of the industry is one of mutual concern and not one of individual or selfish concern."

This growing recognition of this fact on the part of leaders in the industrial world—both among capital and labor—is what is giving this country such a splendid era of industrial peace.

Many who boast of their tolerance seem to overlook the fact that they are intolerant of intolerance. When you get excited about the intolerance of an individual or an organization, remember you are displaying some of your own brand of intolerance.

Speaking of labor and unions it is highly interesting to note that the big labor unions are entering into a field of service beyond the mere matter of wages and shop conditions. The idea of the farseeing leaders of the greater unions is to improve the whole condition of the workingman. In New York the International Ladies Garment Worker's union is the the owner of real estate which houses a health center. The Amalgamated Clothing Worker's union has long been in the banking business. Both unions are interested in a cooperative apartment-house project designed to make several hundreds of their members owners of their own homes.

In the Middle West business men are familiar with the successful banks of the railway brotherhoods. Fortunately in the ranks of labor there are practical idealists.

Word comes from the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas, that a special board has recommended that cavalry horses be dyed a neutral color in war time and polished equipment be made shineless. This is to protect the cavalry from aeroplane attacks. The fact is that the war department would do better to promote the building of more aeroplanes—for commerce in peace time and defense in war time—and give less worry to the cavalry. It's a changing world and some branches of war equipment are getting out of date.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

JAMES J. DAVIS.

James J. Davis was born at Tredegar, South Wales, October 27, 1873. He came to the United States with his parents in 1881, later beginning his career as a puddler's assistant in an iron works at Sharon, Pennsylvania. He has been director general of the Loyal Order of Moose since 1906. Davis was appointed secretary of labor by President Harding in 1921, and was continued in office in the Coolidge administration.

Secretary Davis feels that we are making a little too much progress in machine production. He says:

"Every day sees the perfection of some new mechanical miracle that enables one man to do better and more quickly what many men used to do. In the past six years especially, our progress in the lavish use of power and in harnessing that power to high-speed productive machinery has been tremendous. Nothing like it has ever been seen on earth. But what is all this machinery doing for us? What is it doing to us? I think the time is ripe for us to pause and inquire.

"In the long run new types of industries have always absorbed the workers displaced by machinery, but of late we have been developing new machinery at a faster rate than we have been developing new industries. Inventive genius needs to turn itself in this direction.

"I tremble to think what a state we might be in as a result of this development of machinery without the bars we have lately set up against wholesale immigration. If we had gone on admitting the tide of aliens that formerly poured in here at the rate of a million or more a year, and this at a time when new machinery was constantly eating into the number of jobs, we might have had on our hands something much more serious than the quiet industrial revolution now in progress.

"Fortunately we were wise in time, and the industrial situation [illegible] as I say, a cause only for thought, not alarm.

"Nevertheless I submit that it does call for thought. There seems to be no limit to our national efficiency. At the same time we must ask ourselves, is anybody [illegible], driven by limitless power going to leave on our hands a state of chronic and increasing unemployment? Is the machine that turns out wealth [illegible] greater poverty? Is it giving us a permanent jobless class? It presently seems to double back on itself and bring us social disaster?"

When the year [illegible] the sale of the Har[illegible] [illegible]

In my own case, I may be pardoned for mentioning the Marguder building. Not so very long ago the tax on this property was $620. By constant increases the taxes were put up to a peak of $1,150. The owners thought that such an unjust percentage of the revenue of this property to go for taxes would be fixed for [illegible] by an appeal to the local board of tax commissioners. This board was composed of the master, Judge Parker, who had through his appointments made the appraisements, the treasurer, Mr. Messenger—who may or may not have understood the city values, a fair-minded gentleman ordinarily, and in this case perhaps new to him; then came Mr. King, one of our former commissioners. Now right here I want to say that if the city of Marion is to be represented by three former commissioners it is impossible to get a better board than the present one composed of Messrs. Kinnamon, King and Resnick. With my experience with real estate matters in Marion, I saw at once that Mr. King felt he could not oppose the findings of his colleagues. In fact, I do not see how any farmer not perfectly familiar with city properties could appraise them for taxation. So this board took from us seventeen per cent. of the gross revenue and thirty per cent. of the net income. This may be justice, but we happen to know better. There is not a piece of property in the city of Columbus, business or residential, appraised proportionately like that of Marion. When we expressed our dissatisfaction at this result, we were invited to go to Columbus and had there our justice. Then again we had acreage property in Northwest Marion that we represented. It is on the duplicate today for $2,500 more than the owners have offered it for continuously.

Another thing: The other day it seemed the Wahl's grange filed a protest against the court house levy. Whether right or wrong, the Wahl's grange showed that it had a body of citizens superior to any similar number in the city of Marion with 35,000 people. It is true we have a little body of taxpayers that hope to investigate some of the whys and wherefores of taxation in the city of Marion. I wish to call your attention to Mr. Kinnamon's reply to the grange, that the proposed court house improvement bonds would only require a few cents per person per annum to meet it. Mr. Kinnamon is not posted at all. I hope to be able in a short time to show him where this type of argument has involved the city of Marion in a burden of taxation that will destroy its economic prosperity unless there is an immediate halt. Yet we have in contemplation in addition to your court house improvement a levy of 1.48 mills for the lifetime, at least, of the next generation to meet the appalling expenditure of $800,000 of bonds for improvements that can not be secured. The $800,000 bonds will require an additional million in all probability for long-time interest charges. The original proposition as pointed out by the Star, was increased $50,000 a few days later. The storm water sewer had added some hints of sanitary sewerage. People in this city who have paid for hundreds of thousands of dollars of sewerage will hardly welcome the idea of furnishing somebody else with sewerage with very little expense. This combination has added to its hauling up some sanitary sewerage connections that have been tacked into the storm water sewers. This part of the proposition is so absurd that it is incredible that the city engineer would suggest it.

Citizens of Marion will not meet these issues at the polls without fair warning. The present taxes, magnificently and absolutely, are a burden. When I purchased my humble home at the peak of war prices, my taxes were something like $80; at present they are approximately $275. Assessments added to these things are not only going to ruin property values, but send people out of the city limits to find homes. You could not pull an industry into Marion today—not if you tried with all power given you. Local taxes added to state taxes, with threatened increases of corporation tax, has made Ohio an outlaw. In due time these taxpayers whom I have mentioned, expect to show this danger to every one. Not long since I asked a local manufacturer how he had been treated by reappraisement, etc. He said that that matter would terminate justly, at least, he hoped so. I know that this property would have been moved out of Marion and possibly at this time enjoying its eastern millions of [illegible] and freedom from taxation for a long period of years.

Recently visiting an eastern city of Ohio, I was taken a trip by a relative to show me the beautiful sights of the adjacent country. [illegible]

The Atlantic picked up the Olympic [illegible] a terrier shakes a rat. [illegible] life-boats wrecked and the [illegible] away. And I was among the [illegible] and gave anything to ankle [illegible] companionway asking the [illegible] His way clear to show a [illegible]

It was a disappointment for us all for [illegible] the lightest of sleepers slept through [illegible] there will be nothing to lie about back home. It would have been great [illegible] around the big stove this winter and [illegible] of [illegible] a Spanish castle and carrying a swooning movie star to an open space [illegible] "Fear not, young Jack Harkaway is here," or something.

Out here what we call an earthquake is a "trembler" and that about describes [illegible]. Strangers compare their sensation to a trembling [illegible] attacks of slight giddiness. In Los Angeles proper during the past fifteen years about the only damage has been a few cracked ceilings.

But even so, the earthquake as a topic of conversation is not especially relished on the west coast. Neither is a deadly spider which has made its appearance. However, there is a noticeable improvement in California tolerance. Five or six years ago, people [illegible] jokes about boosters, earthquakes, native sons and climate champions.

Then its future was not assured. Today it has in a measure passed the kidding stage. It does not have to care and it doesn't. Miss California rivalry now is among its own cities and that spirit has proved of value in their enormous expansion.

Los Angeles displays its tolerance in religious and medical affairs. Any one can harangue from a soap box on any subject in Pershing square. In the same way the crown permits malcontents to blow off steam in London's Hyde park. Perhaps only in Los Angeles could an Aimee Semple McPherson wield her old sway. This city has more cults and religions than any other on the face of the globe. And there are also about as many medical institutes and houses of health. In a substantial bungalow near midtown I noticed huge signs in the yard announcing among tenants exponents of five different and absolutely new—that is to me—schools of healing; four priests and priestesses of new religious sects, a face rejuvenator, three massage and internal bath experts and five various treatments for scalp troubles.

One is not to infer from this that Los Angeles is any more of a hick town than New York or any other first-class city. Yet it is still in adolescence with growing pains and changing voice. Out here the yokelry is a little more flamboyant. When you see its office buildings, department stores, shops and fine homes—you lose sight of the so-called yaps and yappery, just as you forget the depressing slums and its denizens when you see Fifth and Park avenues in New York.

In the restaurants are the thousands of grim anxious mothers with hometown beauty-prize-winning daughters—just as we so often read about in descriptions of Hollywood. Many have mortgaged their homes to make this supreme and pathetic sacrifice. All warnings have proved futile. Only Hollywood knows the heartbreak of beauty prize winners.

Royal T. Boger, of Cass avenue, was beaten up and robbed, the Star said, by a man who slipped up behind him on Kenton avenue and hit him over the head. The robber secured seven dollars.

"A Good Fellow" pleased a fine audience at the Grand.

The Star told of the annual reunion of the 174th Ohio Volunteer cavalry at Delaware, the day before.

The Marion County Soldiers' association, the Star said, held one of the largest and most enjoyable picnics in its history at LaRue, the day before.

A rig being driven by Sherman Dutton was hit by an Erie train. The horse was killed but Dutton and his companions, Benjamin Imbody and Morris Berry, almost miraculously escaped serious injury.

Frank B. Kellogg, present secretary of state, was well pleased with the progress he was making as government counsel against the Standard Oil company in a suit looking to its dissolution.

The circuit court decided that the county commissioners had charge of the Little Scioto improvement and rejected the view of those contesting the right of the commissioners to make the improvement.

Newark took both games of a double-header from Marion, five to nothing and three to two. Blanch and Fox pitched for Marion.

Fred R. Crow, assistant advertising manager of the Jamestown exposition, was in this city in the exposition advertising car, No. 1, to boost the exposition. He was formerly on the reportorial staff of the Star.

The Star told of the birth, Wednesday night, of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrison, of Olney avenue.

LONE STATION BANDIT ACTIVE

Two Kenton Business Places Victimized by Daring Holdup Man

Kenton, Sept. 19—Working at a fast speed a lone gunman at [illegible] Sunday morning held up two oil stations here making his escape in a stolen automobile.

This was the fifth time that bandits have held up filling stations here. Stations falling victim to the bandit Sunday morning were the Rebner's and Shell Companies whose filling stations are situated within a block of each other on W. Franklin-st. The Rebner's station had been robbed on three previous occasions.

The Rebner's station was the first to be held up when the lone, masked bandit at the point of a gun forced the salesman, Joe [illegible], to open the safe. The amount taken there could not be learned.

Drives Stolen Car

The Rebner's station was robbed at seven o'clock after which the bandit drove his car, an Essex stolen from the garage of Edgar Morrison, to the Shell Station where he attempted to repeat the performance. A. H. McCullough in charge of the station refused to open the safe in spite of the number of times that the bandit pushed a gun in his ribs. The bandit, however, obtained about $15 in change and bills off McCullough.

The Essex car was found by police parked on the corner of [illegible] and [illegible]. Police believe that the same gang of bandits who have been pulling a series of "jobs" in this section were behind the robberies of yesterday. The fact the same methods were used on another occasion strengthens the belief.

Rev. George A. Whitlock Gives First Sermon at Wesley M. E.

In his first sermon as pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, Rev. George A. Whitlock of Canton, at the service there yesterday morning, pointed out the duty of a Christian to be to follow in the paths, the trail of righteousness. He represented the church as a path to God open to all Christians and known to them by the landmarks of peace and rest and comfort along the way.

Reverend Whitlock designated as his duty as pastor of the church to help those who had lost the way to righteousness to rediscover it in God's path, the church. His text was "Walk ye in the old paths and ye shall find rest to your soul."

While Reverend Whitlock conducted the service here yesterday morning, Dr. J. D. Darling, former pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, preached his first sermon as pastor of the M. E. Church in Camden, O. Dr. Darling and his cousin, Miss Mollie Thompson, will move their goods to Camden Wednesday morning and Reverend Whitlock, with his wife and three sons will locate here permanently at Wesley parsonage, 266 Orchard st., Thursday.

Real culture and common sense are never at odds.

This was perfectly true. Mabel was always telling Sally what a [illegible] housekeeper she was and how nicely she did things.

Oh, how sweet your table looks, she would twitter sometimes when she came to Sally's home [illegible] fresh flowers on the clean table with its shining glass and silver. [illegible] your perfectly darling cushions [illegible] ... Sally dear me, you smart thing.

Sally shook her head. She barely heard what her sister was saying.

TWICE in Every Minute

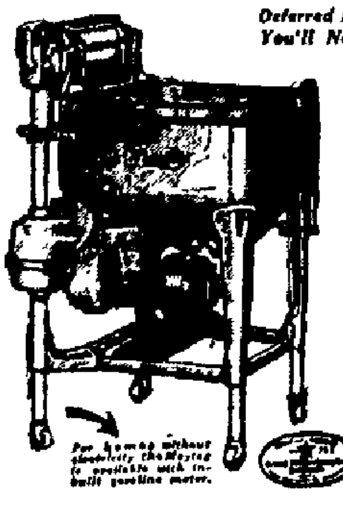
there's another woman made happy with a MAYTAG

TWICE in every minute of the day a Maytag is delivered to some woman's home. Twice in every minute some woman is made happy in the ownership of the washer which she knows will bring her shorter, easier wash hours and cleaner washed clothes.

Try a Maytag yourself—there is no obligation. Prove—in your own home—with your own washing—that a Maytag will relieve you of ALL washday worries. Satisfy yourself by seeing the Maytag at work on your own laundering, that it will actually wash all garments clean without hand-rubbing—even cuffs and collars; that its specially designed heat retaining, cast aluminum tub adds enough force to the water action to wash tubfuls of clothes in 3 to 7 minutes; 50 pounds (dry weight) in an hour. Try on your own washing, all the other helpful Maytag features.

More than a million women are proud possessors of a Maytag. Every minute two more women become Maytag owners. Such success—such popularity must be well deserved. It will take you only a minute to learn the reason.

Deferred Payments You'll Never Miss



For homes without electricity the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor.
